

The fact that the NAB is using its lobbyists to quash XM's right to offer listener services such as traffic and weather just shows how the rights of various companies can be taken away by interest groups with money. Allow XM to compete on an even playing field - it's a great service.